

The next day there was much excitement. The ugly step sisters were talking about the beautiful princess who had danced with the prince and left in such a hurry. They told Cinderella that the prince had found the glass slipper and was searching his kingdom until he found the girl whose foot it fitted and then he would marry her.

When the prince arrived at their house the ugly stepsisters were thrilled. In turn, they each tried to squeeze a foot into the dainty glass slipper, but it would not fit.

"Please may I try?" asked Cinderella. The slipper fitted perfectly and the prince was overjoyed. Instantly the fairy godmother appeared again and changed Cinderella's dress into a beautiful gown fit for a princess.

Soon Cinderella married her handsome prince and they lived happily ever after.

