

SOCIAL CONSEQUENCES OF THE “NEW WORLD” COLONIZATION

The colonization of America happens around the ending of the 15th century after Cristobal Colon arrived in 1492. Mainly Spanish, Portuguese, French, British and Dutch made it, all of them had settled the “New World”.

Spanish and Portuguese Empires were the first to conquer the New World. The Spaniards conquered Central America, many Caribbean Islands, and a great part of North and South America (those areas that include Aztec, Incas and Mayas Empires). The Portuguese occupied the north of South America (current Brazil).

Maria Isabel